

Most readers will be familiar with the story of Milo the dachshund, stolen from a car in Chipping Norton, and now re-united with his owner thanks to the very widespread publicity on social media, which, it is thought, made the dog 'too hot to handle'. Inspired by this, Charlbury shopkeeper, Tim Widdows, has set up a Facebook page - NeighbourWoof Watch, which has attracted over 5,000 members since its launch on Saturday 6th. Do support it.

https://www.facebook.com/groups/248366180336591/?multi_permalinks=249670863539456¬if_id=1615200084547111¬if_t=feedback_reaction_generic&ref=notif